79th RQS helps save critically ill mariner

By Tech. Sgt. B. Coors-Davidson
355th Wing Public Affairs

The phone call to stand-by for a possible rescue mission came in at 6:45 a.m. Tuesday. By 10:30 a.m., confirmation of the mission was received and 14 Davis-Monthan Air Force Base members took off aboard a 79th Rescue Squadron HC-130 to do their part in saving a critically ill mariner somewhere over the Pacific Ocean.

Time was of the essence for the diabetic mariner who was in critical condition aboard the MV Cape Horn, a Military Sealift Command container ship. The 749-foot ship is only capable of traveling at 17 knots (about 20 miles per hour), and was more than 650 nautical miles from medical care.

As the D-M aircraft headed northwest to the rendezvous point, pararescuemen from the 129th Rescue Wing from Moffett Field, Calif., were air-dropped into the ocean in a tiny Zodiac boat by an Air Force Reserve Command HC-130 to board the ship and try to stabilize the patient.

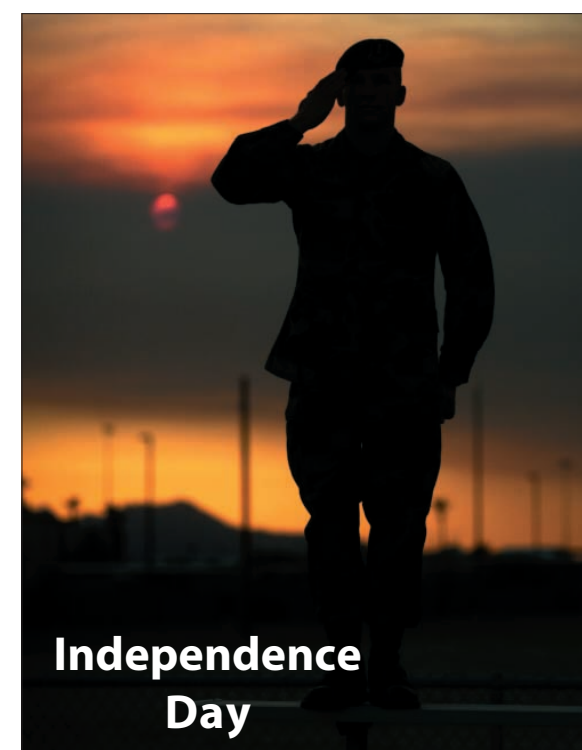

It was quickly determined that the patient would need to be air-lifted off the ship, and a 129th RQS HH-60 Blackhawk helicopter was assigned the task.

Meanwhile, D-M's HC-130 traveled more than 1,200 nautical miles and was in-place to support the mission, about 600 nautical miles from San Francisco over the Pacific.

"The 79th RQS provided more than 4,300 pounds of fuel for the HH-60, while four pararescuemen and two combat rescue officers from D-M's 48th Rescue Squadron prepared medical supplies, life rafts and survival equipment for the unexpected," said Lt. Col. Craig Knierim, 79th RQS director of operations. "The helicopter was a long way from home, and we had to be prepared for anything during the 11-hour mission."

The patient was successfully air lifted to Stanford Medical Center, Calif. His condition was unknown at the time of publication.

"The mission was a great success, with coordination between D-M, the 129th Rescue Wing and Air Force Rescue Command," Knierim added.

Uniform fabric delays

Delays in getting certified fabric have backed up production of selected Air Force and Army optional uniforms.

Those items include Air Force polyester/wool blend shirts and blouses, polyester slacks and skirts, mess dress uniforms and officer service coats sold through the Army and Air Force Exchange Service.

Lengthened delivery times on certified fabrics have caused the shortage. Burlington Industries, the sole certified manufacturer of nearly every fabric used in military uniforms, has been reorganizing under Chapter 11 during the past year.

As part of their reorganization plan, they have become a "made-to-order" supplier, causing fabric-delivery times to increase from five-to-six weeks to six months or more, officials said.

AAFES is not authorized to use other fabrics or purchase optional uniforms from companies not meeting approved supplier requirements, AAFES officials said. The shortages are expected to continue through fall.

In the meantime, military clothing sales workers are moving merchandise to different stores to meet the immediate military member needs. (Courtesy of AAFES)

Moving rocks

Comment: As a patron of the youth center I do not agree with, nor will I support the rock moving activity given to the children at the youth center during the Before and After School Program. There were piles of rocks dumped at the youth center a few weeks ago. Youth center staff are using our children to spread the rocks around the center and are calling it an activity. On several occasions, I have witnessed children and child-care providers outside moving rocks. We parents pay for child care, not child labor.

Response: Thank you for your call concerning the children at the youth center moving rocks. The School Age Program's Garden Club is a voluntary activity where children are involved in beautifying the youth center grounds. This program teaches life skills and builds character, leadership development and service to others. Numerous parents have commented positively on this particular activity. We also had several youth upset because they were unable to participate in the project.

Let's face it, most of us would be happy to see our kids clamoring to do yard work. If you have any further questions or concerns about any of our youth activities, please contact Wendy Ozment, Family Member Programs Flight chief, at 228-2335.

Supporting each other and working together to provide the best programs and services is a goal for all D-M people.

Ideas, suggestions, comments, concerns and kudos are important to make improvements.

The best way to pass along a comment or to get an answer to a concern is to contact the agency chief or functional managers listed here. Still no solution? The Commander's Corner phone line is 228-4747.

An e-mail can also be sent to: 355th.Wing.CommandersCorner@dm.af.mil.

Callers must leave their name, phone number and a message. They will receive a prompt reply in writing or by telephone. We will honor caller confidentiality, but sometimes we need to contact callers to gather additional information. If a concern is of general interest to the base populace, the response may be published in the Desert Airman. Anonymous calls may not be published.

Team D-M Mission Spotlight

The 355th Logistics Readiness Squadron is the result of the fusion of transportation and supply to achieve global logistics power. The main divisions of the 355th LRS are traffic management, systems management, vehicle management and fuels.

The 355th LRS directs all wing transportation, supply and logistics planning functions through a 499-person work force supporting 76 A/OA-10s, 10 HC-130s and 12 HH-60Es combat-ready aircraft.

The 355th LRS manages more than $202 million in supplies and equipment, maintains $42 million worth of vehicles and directs $49 million in fuels support.

They generate deployments, reception, planning and execution, and manage personnel and equipment for operational taskings.

Optometry Clinic opens to retirees

By Staff Sgt. Shanda De Anda
355th Wing Public Affairs

The 355th Medical Group Aerospace Medicine Squadron Optometry Clinic will begin offering limited appointments to retirees and their family members for routine eye examinations Tuesday.

This will be the first time in more than five years these services are available for retirees. "The ability of the clinic to now be able to provide services to the Davis-Monthan Air Force Base and local retiree community is a direct reflection of the Air Force Surgeon General's commitment to put staffing where the largest demand for medical services exists," said Col. Carl Alley, Medical Group commander.

"The appointments are made available by increased manning," said Capt. (Dr.) Christine Stabile, 355th AMDS optometrist.

"Over the past five years the Surgeon General has established evaluation panels directed to assess where medical care is needed by service and has taken actions to move care providers to bases where the most need exists," Alley said. "This has resulted in three optometrists being assigned to D-M."

"Captain [Dr.] Robert Giles, the clinic's third optometrist arrived May 30. The addition of the third optometrist will allow us to expand our services to retirees and still allow us to serve our active-duty population in a timely manner."

"We will have an additional six appointments available daily on a first come, first served basis," said Staff Sgt. Tamika Thomas, 355th AMDS Optometry Clinic NCO in charge and technician.

The additional appointments will help optometrists service the retiree community and their family members by providing routine eye examinations.

"Unfortunately, we are not able to order glasses for family members of our retirees. Currently, we can and will on request order

Child care during ORE

The Dorothy Finley Child Development Center and Family Child Care Provider Program will offer extended hours for Davis-Monthan Air Force Base members during the operational readiness exercise, tentatively scheduled today through July 18. The CDC extended hours will be 5:30 a.m. through 6:30 p.m. for children currently enrolled. D-M families with children enrolled in the Family Child Care Provider Program should make arrangements with their provider. For more information about the Family Child Care Provider Program, call 228-5391 or 228-2201. For more information concerning the CDC, please call 228-3336. If you are having difficulty finding adequate child care during the ORE, call 228-2201 to inquire on the availability of additional childcare options resulting from cancellations. Additional space is limited and cannot be guaranteed.

CAC IDs

Personnel are reminded that a Mobile Registration Unit will be issuing Common Access Cards through Aug. 15. Appointments are scheduled by going to <https://intranet> under "Hot Items." 355th Wing personnel will not schedule CAC issue appointments during operational readiness exercises unless they have explicit supervisor approval. Each unit will be assigned a one-week window for setting an appointment. For more information, call Tony Wachala at 228-4169.

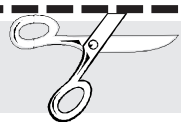

Garage/yard sales on base

Base housing residents are permitted to conduct garage and yard sales on an occasional basis. Sales notices should be posted on the sales information board located on Quijota Boulevard just north of the youth center, (for use by housing and mobile home parks residents only). Remove notice after sale. The maximum size flyer permitted is 8 and one half by 11 inches. At no time are flyers to be posted on street signs, light poles or on boxes at street corners. The sale of food and drinks at garage and yard sales is prohibited.

184 airmen were saved from the consequences of driving under the influence by the Airmen Against Drunk Driving Program since Dec. 31. (Information current as of today)

Information Condition Alerts do their part, help enhance overall Air Force readiness

By Staff Sgt. Shanda De Anda
355th Wing Public Affairs

As 355th Wing members prepare for Phases I and II of the next operational readiness exercise, the security of assets must be reinforced with diligent practice.

Although the 355th Communications Squadron has the charge of ensuring the network security of Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, the security of all D-M assets is the collective responsibility of the D-M community. The 355th CS uses information condition alerts as a tool to help alert users of the current condition of information transfer at D-M and to serve as a regular reminder of who to contact to report unusual or suspicious activity. However, to be successful, users must be aware of who their unit information assurance monitor and/or work group manager is for their work center, what the various INFOCONs are and what actions are required during each INFOCON.

All users are the first line of defense in identifying suspicious and unusual activity. Your work group manager is the first direction to turn to if you suspect unusual activity. They help determine what activities require troubleshooting and which ones should be reported to the Network Control Center. Work group managers also help provide guidance and information concerning the various INFOCONs as well as assist with keeping all systems in the proper defensive posture with the latest patches and upgrades. There are a total of five information conditions: INFOCONs Normal, Alpha, Bravo, Charlie and Delta.

Normal indicates there are no abnormal risks to network operations. Users should continue to report all computer hardware or software issues to their work group managers and notify their WM of any unusual or unexplained activity, including chain e-mails, viruses or attempts of individuals to access D-M computers.

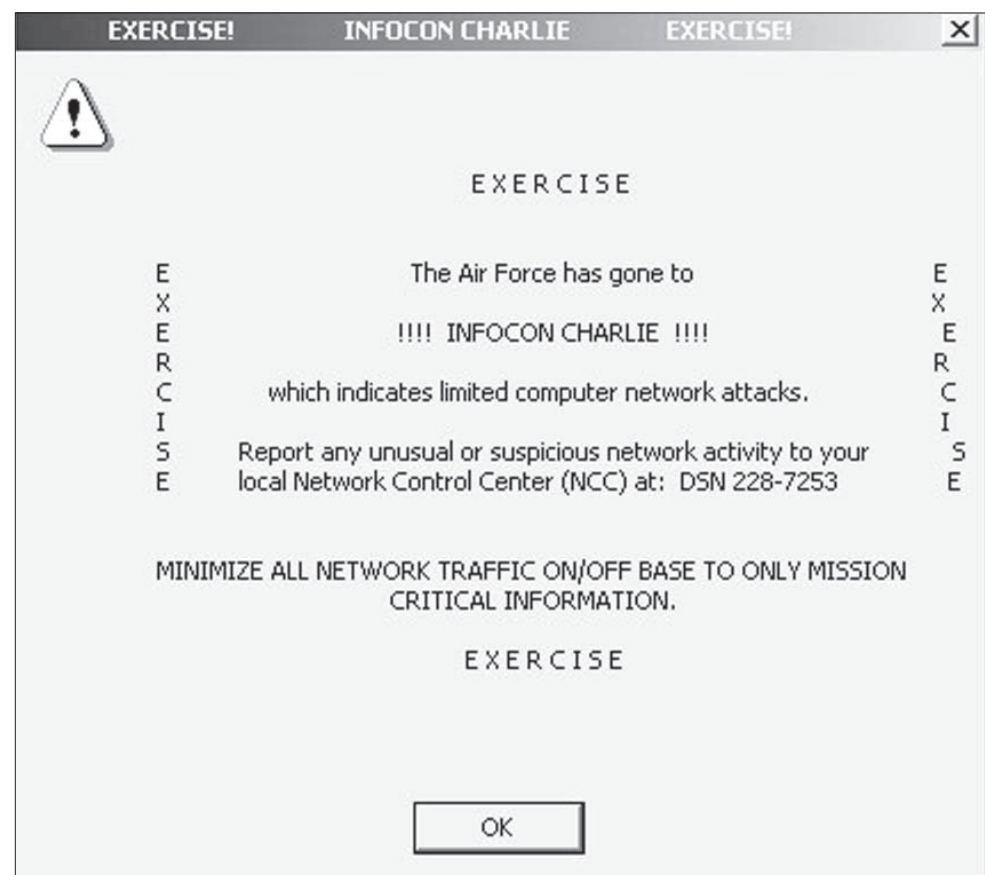

Alpha signifies an increased threat activity or intent for networks and information systems. Users should notify WMs of any unusual activity and be especially suspicious and inquisitive about anyone requesting access or computer passwords to access C4I (or command, control, communications, computer and intelligence) networks, systems, databases or other communication mediums.

Bravo indicates a specific risk of attack to networks or information systems, or it may indicate a major operation or exercise is planned or ongoing. Work group managers should be notified of any unusual activity and users should exercise increased vigilance, be especially inquisitive of anyone

D-M Legal Office helps members prepare to deploy with POAs

By Capt. Darren Gilkes
355th Wing Legal Office

As Davis-Monthan Air Force Base members prepare for the upcoming operational readiness exercise and real-world deployments, the legal office stresses preparing powers of attorney before an actual deployment.

Is it illegal for an organization, business or individual to refuse to accept a power of attorney?

Simply stated, no.

There is no law in existence today that requires anyone to accept a power of attorney.

Whether or not a power of attorney is accepted is entirely up to the organization, business or individual you present the document to.

There are two basic types of powers of attorney — a general power of attorney and a special power of attorney.

A general power of attorney is very broad in scope and affords another person, also called your attorney in fact, the power to do just about anything on your behalf and also in your name.

You should absolutely trust the person you give this authority to!

A special power of attorney limits another's ability to perform very specific acts in your name and on your behalf.

When seeking a special power of attorney, remember some businesses such as real estate agencies, banks and mortgage companies require very specific language within the document.

Ask them exactly what language needs to be included in the document to empower the person you have named as your attorney in fact.

To do business with the Department of Motor Vehicles you must also provide the vehicle's description, to include the year, make, model and vehicle identification number on all special powers of attorney.

Powers of attorney are prepared by the D-M Legal Office, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 10 a.m.

For more information, call 228-5242.

glasses for active-duty retirees," said Abbott.

"Routine eye examinations include the assessment of ocular health and refractive status, which is used to determine eye glass prescriptions," said Capt. Stabile.

Patients must bring their glasses to the examination and be prepared to have their pupils dilated. Also, although new contact lens fittings are not available, patients who need to renew their contact lens prescription must bring their contact lenses, current contact lens prescription or packaging, lens case and lens solution.

"The optometry clinic staff is very excited to be able to offer this valuable service to retirees and their dependents," said Stabile. "We look forward to serving you."

requesting direct access or passwords to access C4I networks, databases or any other communication mediums. Anyone not recognized should be confronted if attempting to use computer or network equipment.

Charlie signifies the limited success of network or information system attacks. Although systems are still mission capable, serious threat activity is still on going. Users should notify their work group managers of any unusual activity, increase vigilance and confront anyone not recognized who is attempting to use computers or the network. Only mission essential (command and control) network traffic will be permitted off base, World Wide Web access will be limited to primarily .mil sites and use of e-mail and other network services should be for mission essential needs only.

Delta indicates structured threat entities are conducting information warfare operations against Air Force resources or total force generation. Operational mission accomplishment has been affected, all network resources will be dedicated to mission critical (command and control) systems only and internal, non-critical systems will be shut down. Work group managers will provide further guidance on using information systems and networks.

TALK IS GOOD

A personal note of thanks to those who serve

By Christy Ferer

When I told friends about my pilgrimage to Iraq to thank the U.S. troops, reaction was underwhelming at best.

Some were blunt. "Why are you going there?" They could not understand why it was important for me, a Sept. 11, 2001 widow, to express my support for the men and women stationed today in the Gulf.

But the reason seemed clear to me: 200,000 troops were sent halfway around the world to stabilize the kind of culture that breeds terrorists like those who I believe began World War III on Sept. 11, 2001. Reaction was so politely negative I began to doubt my role on the first United Service Organization/ Tribeca Institute tour into newly occupied Iraq where, on average, a soldier a day is killed.

Besides, with Robert De Niro, Kid Rock, Rebecca and John Stamos, Wayne Newton, Gary Sinise and Lee Ann Womack, who needed me? Did they really want to hear about my husband, Neil Levin, who went to work as director of the New York Port Authority during the Sept. 11 tragedy, and never came home? How would they relate to the two others traveling with me: Ginny Bauer, a N.J. homemaker and the mother of three who lost her husband, David; and former Marine Jon Vigiano, who lost his only sons, Jon, a firefighter, and Joe, a policeman.

As we were choppered over desert, I wondered if I'd feel like a street hawker, passing out Port Authority pins and baseball caps as I said "thank you" to the troops. Would a hug from me mean anything at all in the presence of the Dallas Cowboy cheerleaders and a Victoria's Secret model?

The first "meet and greet" made me weep. Why? Soldiers, armed with M16s and saddlebags of water in 120-degree heat, swarmed over the stars for photos and autographs. When it was announced a trio of Sept. 11 tragedy family members were also in the tent it was as if a psychic cork on an emotional dam was popped. Soldiers from all over our great country rushed toward us to express their condolences. Some wanted to touch us, as if they needed a physical connection to our sorrow and for some living proof of why they were there.

One mother of two from Montana told me she enlisted because of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks. Dozens of others told us the same thing. One young soldier showed me his metal bracelet engraved with the name of a victim he never knew and the awful date none of us will ever forget.

What I was not prepared for on the tour was to have soldiers show us the World Trade Center memorabilia they'd carried with them into the streets of Baghdad, Iraq. Others had clearly been holding in stories of personal Sept. 11 tragedies, which had made them enlist.

USO handlers moved us from one corner to the next so everyone could meet us. One fire brigade plucked the three of us from the crowd, transporting us to their firehouse to call on those who had to stand guard during the Baghdad concert. It was all about touching us and feeling the reason they were in this hell. Back at Baghdad International Airport, Kid Rock turned a "meet and greet" into an impromptu concert in a steamy airport hangar before 5,000 troops.

One particular soldier, Capt. Vargas from the Bronx, told me he enlisted in the Army after some of his wife's best friends were lost at the World Trade Center. When he glimpsed the piece of recovered metal from the Towers I had been showing to a group of soldiers he grasped for it as if it were the Holy Grail. Then he handed it to Kid Rock who passed the precious metal through the 5,000 troops in the audience. They lunged at the opportunity to touch the steel that symbolized what so many of them felt was the purpose of their mission — which puts them at risk every day in the more than 100-degree heat, not knowing all the while if a sniper was going to strike at any time.

To me, these troops were there to avenge the murder of my husband and 3,000 others. When I got to the microphone I told them we had not made this journey for condolences but to thank them and to tell them the families of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks think of them every day. They lift our hearts. The crowd interrupted me with chants of "U.S.A., U.S.A., U.S.A." Many wept.

What happened next left no doubt that the troops drew inspiration from our tragedies. When I was first asked to speak to thousands of troops in Qatar, after Iraq, I wondered if it would feel like a "grief for sale" spectacle. But this time I was shaking because I was to present the recovered World Trade Center steel to Army Gen. Tommy Franks (U.S. Central Command commander). I quivered as I handed him the icy gray block of steel. His great craggy eyes welled up with tears. The sea of khaki fell silent. Then the proud four-star general was unable to hold back the tears, which streamed down his face on center stage before 4,000 troops. As this mighty man turned from the spotlight to regain his composure I comforted him with a hug.

Now, when do I return?

A CARONDELET HEALTH TIP

Watch Your Step

by John P. Powers, DPM, Podiatric Surgery

Every day your feet endure roughly 8-10,000 steps. Many women endure those steps in high heels. This is the primary reason women have, according to the American Podiatric Medical Association (APMA), about four times as many foot problems as men.

High heels may be a major problem for women, but they aren't the only problem. Pregnancy and age are just some of the factors which play a role in foot health.

The APMA determined that high heels — pumps with heels of more than two inches — are biomechanically and orthopedically unsound. High heels may contribute to a variety of foot problems including knee and back problems, injuries resulting from falls, shortened calf muscles, and an unnatural gait.

If you're a slave to fashion you can alleviate some of the high heel damage. Limit the time you wear high heels by alternating with more comfortable, naturally fitting shoes for part of the day.

Nylon stockings can cause foot woes, too. Because nylon doesn't breathe it creates a warm, damp area around your feet, inviting fungal infections (athlete's foot). The abrasiveness of nylon combined with a tight-fitting shoe is a recipe for blisters. Even more detrimental are tighter fitting support hose.

Pregnant women should take special precautions with their feet. Pregnancy changes the entire body, but supportive, shock-absorbing shoes with broad-based heels help swollen feet and ankles to bear the weight of those changes. A podiatrist should be seen if unusual foot discomfort is experienced.

Fat pads on the bottom of the foot deteriorate as you age, so older women experience more foot trouble than younger women do. Cushioned shoes are crucial, as is a soft flexible upper that conforms to the natural shape of the foot. Wearing leather shoes that "breathe" help prevent skin irritations on the feet.

If you experience continued pain an examination by a foot and ankle specialist is in order. Attempts at self-treatment can cost you not only time and money, they might make the problem worse. Preventing foot problems can be as simple as a wardrobe change and a little extra care — a small price to pay to avoid the agony of "de feet."

All members of the Desert Lightning Community are asked to try their hands at this week's photo caption contest. Send your clever captions or cutlines for what you think is happening in the photo (above) to desert.airman@dm.af.mil by July 18. Winners are scheduled to be posted in the July 25 edition of the Desert Airman. Send all photos for consideration in future editions of the photo caption contest to desert.airman@dm.af.mil. For more information, contact "The Lighter Side" editor at 228-5714.

Solutions

The following is the solution to the safety phrase scramble from the July 3 edition of "The Lighter Side."

A KEY ELEMENT IN THE MISHAP PREVENTION PROCESS IS TO ENSURE AIR FORCE PERSONNEL UNDERSTAND THAT MISHAPS ARE CONTROLLABLE AND THAT EACH INDIVIDUAL PLAYS A VITAL ROLE IN THE PREVENTION EFFORT.

The solutions for the safety scramble were also located in the Air Force Pamphlet 36-2241 Volume 1, Section 12.22.3.4. titled Individuals.

D-M AFB celebrates July Fourth

Davis-Monthan Air Force Base hosted the base's fourth Annual Fourth of July celebration at Bama Park July 4.

The festivities included children's entertainment with a kid's zone offering a disk jockey, climbing wall and face painting. There were also more than 12 booths of food, beverages and novelties. Live entertainment was provided by Mercedez and her band, Yada Yada and Wrecking Crew Variety DJ. The festivities closed with a music synchronized fireworks display.

12th AF softball team gets revenge against cops ... X2

By Airman 1st Class Matt Mason
755th Operational Support Squadron

The stage was set July 2 night for a showdown between two base softball powerhouses, neither of them new to Championship Night.

The 355th Security Forces Squadron has two championships in the last five years, in which they are undefeated in regular season play. 12th Air Force also has a championship in that span and makes a run in the playoffs every year.

This year would be no different as the two clashed for the second time in the postseason. Having lost to SFS in an earlier round, 12th had to battle out of the Loser's Bracket to make it to the Championship. In order for them to reign as base champs once again, they would need to find a way to beat SFS twice in the same night.

The SFS started the night in the first inning with a grand slam, the first of three homeruns in the game for Fred Spano. The inning would end knotted up, though, after 12th used four hits, a walk, and a sac fly, including a home run of their own, by Mike Adams. The SFS kept things going their way in the second, as they sent all ten batters to the plate in another four run effort. With SFS up 8-4 heading into the bottom of the second, the game was shaping up to be the battle that was expected.

Twelfth had other ideas though, as they came in to hit in the bottom of the second. Taking advantage of eight walks, the 12th put together a nineteen-run inning. Four long-balls, including a grand slam by Vandous Stripling, and timely hitting drove the offensive surge, scoring 12 of their runs with two outs. When the last out was finally recorded, SFS found themselves staring at a 23-8 deficit.

The strong SFS squad wasn't ready to give up heading into the third. They would score seven, thanks to a couple round-trippers, in an attempt to make a game of it. But 12th went on to score nine more runs in their last two at bats, while holding SFS to a pair. Game One ended with a convincing 32-17 victory by 12th, forcing a second game to determine the 2003 champion.

After a brief break for both teams, the championship elimination game would start off with 12th hitting first. Both teams stumbled out of the gate in the first, each scoring a single run. The second inning picked up where game one left off, as 12th batted around and hung a seven-spot on the board, due in part to the second homeruns of the night for Paul Marchetti and Stripling.

Senior Airman Maryann Walker

Lynn Parker, 12th Air Force coach and pitcher, sends one to the plate while a 355th Security Forces Squadron player waits on 2nd base for the results.

SFS answered with two runs of their own in last of the second, but still found themselves down 8-3.

It was all 12th from that point on, as they went on to score 10 more runs in the next two innings, before SFS could score another run. As the two teams headed into the fifth inning, SFS was facing elimination to the tune of 18-4. The bats for 12th wouldn't let up, bombarding SFS with 13 runs. Spano's fourth homerun of the night gave SFS two more in the bottom of the fifth, but the game was all but over at that point. Twelfth put the exclamation point on the night and the season with a 31-6 rout over SFS.

Avenging their earlier loss to SFS, 12th pounded out 63 runs over both games to take the 2003 Base Softball Championship. "It was nice to get the payback the way we did," said 12th coach and pitcher Lynn Parker.

"We got ours handed to us tonight," SFS skipper, Robert Belter said, "that's it."

It was a great run for SFS, whose first losses of the season came in the championship games. There's no doubt they'll be back next year, as will the 12th team who have now beaten the SFS for the championship twice in the last five years.

Education Services

Park University

Financial aid students need to remember that the summer term will soon be coming to an end. Make sure financial aid is ready for fall term 1. Also, all financial aid students must pay 25 percent of tuition at the beginning of the term. Registration for all on base and Internet classes begins Monday. For more information, call 748-8266, send a fax to 750-8675 or e-mail davi@mail.park.edu.

Reserve Officer Training Corps

Airman Scholarship and Commissioning Program and Professional Officer Course-Early Release Program packages are due to Air Force ROTC headquarters Oct. 15. Late or incomplete packages will not be accepted. It is recommended that a package be started no later than August. For assistance, call Michelle Marinelli at 228-4249 or Rafael Maldonado at 228-3484.

Testing results

Students can verify their test passing status and Community College of the Air Force degree progression by establishing and accessing their Air Force Virtual Education Center account via <https://afvec.langley.af.mil/afvec>. However, CCAF will only report passing scores. Students should allow 20 days for college level examination program/defence activity for non-traditional education support and 45 days for Excelsior results to be posted. For more information, call Michelle Marinelli at 228-4249 or Rafael Maldonado at 228-3484.

Education benefits

Personnel can find help with military friendly schools that have flexible programs, college credit for military experience, Montgomery GI Bill and military education benefits that are accepted and admissions counselors at www.military.com/Education/Lead1?ESRC=veteran.se.

Family Support Center

Time for Tots

There are Time for Tots programs Tuesday, July 22 and 29 from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the Desert Dove Chapel. Come and meet other parents while the children enjoy activities. For more information, call 228-5690.

Car buying basics

If you considering buying a new or used car, start with an informative seminar and learn the basics of car buying Wednesday from 9 to 11 a.m. in Building 3200, Room 250. Topics include car buying terminology, things to avoid and helpful resources. Be prepared before you step on the car lot. For more information, or reservations, call 228-5690.

Transition Assistance Program

There is a TAP Seminar Wednesday to July 18 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Building 3200, Room 266. The seminar focuses on preparing departing service members to conduct an effective job search. Individuals retiring are eligible to attend two years prior to their retirement and those separating can attend within a year from separation. For reservations, call 228-5690.

Baby Basics

There is a Baby Basics class July 18 from 1 to 4 p.m. in Building 4220 on the second floor. If you are pregnant or are already a mother, come and learn about your baby's development. Discussions take place regarding basic infant care, growth and development. For more information, please call 228-5690.

Sponsor training

Sponsor training classes help sponsors get new arrivals off to a positive and productive start. No matter how many times a member has moved, a genuine effort to welcome someone is always appreciated. Sponsor classes are held the second Wednesday of each month in Building 3200, Room 266 from 8 to 9 a.m. and are open to military and DoD employees. Training is mandatory for first time sponsors and for those who have not served during the past year. To sign up, call 228-5690.

Happenings

Attention officers' spouses

Active duty officers' spouses, retired officers' spouses or civilian spouses are invited to a Free 50's Ice Cream Social, Aug. 21 at 10 a.m. at the Mirage Officers Club. New members, returning members and prospective members are all welcome. Come learn what the OSC and the city of Tucson have to offer. For more information, or to make reservations, call 751-9155.

Thrift shop

Davis-Monthan Thrift Shop, located in Building 3220, is open Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Consignments are taken until 1 p.m. To reserve space for large items and furniture, call 228-2120.

Movies

Movies begin at 7 p.m. unless otherwise noted. Admission is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 and senior citizens. Admission is for ID card holders and their guests only. For the theater movie recording, call 228-5694.

Friday: Bruce Almighty (PG-13)

Jim Carrey plays Bruce Nolan, a human interest television reporter who is discontented with almost everything in life, despite his popularity and the love of his girlfriend, played by Jennifer Aniston. At the end of the worst day in his life, Bruce angrily rages against God – and God responds. Appearing in human form, He endows Bruce with His divine powers, challenging him to take on the big job and see if he can do it any better. 1 hour, 34 minutes

Saturday: Matrix Reloaded (R)

Neo, Morpheus, Trinity and their crew continue to battle the machines that have enslaved the human race in the Matrix. Now, more are waking up out of the matrix and attempting to live in the real world. As their numbers grow, the battle moves to Zion, the last real-world city and center of human resistance. 2 hours, 18 minutes

Sunday: The In-laws (PG-13)

When mild-mannered Jerry Peyser meets daredevil CIA operative Steve Tobias before the upcoming marriage of their children, potential father-of-the-bride Peyser gets a serious case of pre-nuptial jitters. But before Peyser can say that the wedding is off, he suddenly finds himself embroiled in the chaos that follows in Tobias's wake as he is dragged kicking and screaming into a series of perilous adventures that take the mismatched in-laws-to-be halfway around the world. 1 hour, 38 minutes

Teen Lock-In

There will be a teen Lock-in at the Youth Center today from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. Saturday. Cost is $15. Permission slips are required. For more information, call 228-8844.

Missoula Children's Theatre auditions

There will be auditions July 28 from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the base theater for Missoula Children's Theatre production of Tales of Hans Christian Andersen. Those auditioning should arrive at 12:15 p.m. and plan to stay for the full two hours. Some of the cast members will be asked to stay for a rehearsal immediately following the auditions.

Approximately 50 roles are available for local students. All students grades kindergarten through 12 are encouraged to audition. No advance preparation is necessary. Most students will rehearse four hours each day, Monday through Friday. The performances are scheduled for August 1 from 1 and 6 p.m. at the base theatre. The production is part of Missoula Children's Theatre's unique international touring project. For more information, call Frances Pientack at the community center at 228-3717.

Give Parents A Break

Give Parents A Break is designed to provide parents an opportunity to enjoy a moment to themselves without their children. It is available the second and fourth Saturday of each month from noon to 4 p.m. The next dates are Saturday and July 26. Active-duty Air Force families are eligible for the program when a parent is feeling stress due to deployments, remotes, extended work hours, temporary duty assignments, emergencies, illnesses, moving, hardships and more.

To be eligible for the program, families must be referred by a base referral agency. Parents should contact the family support center at 228-5690 for a list of referral agencies.

Reservations to the appropriate center must be made at least 48 hours in advance. Children must be between the ages of 6 months and 5 years (non-school age) for the Finley Child Development Center and 5 to 12 years (school attendance required) at the School Age Program. For reservations at the CDC, call 228-3336. For reservations to the School Age Program, call 228-8484.

Skin Cancer: The Most Common Cancer

Skin cancer is the most common kind of cancer today. There are an estimated 300,000 to 600,000 cases of melanoma and non-melanoma skin cancers. While it is the most common of cancers, it is also one of the most curable forms of cancer.

Prevention is the best fight against skin cancer. The following are important measures to take in the prevention of skin cancer:

- Wear spf 30 or higher when exposed to the sun
- Wear clothes that cover much of your skin while in the sun

- Locate shaded areas when in sunlight for extended periods of time
- Sun tanning of any type should be avoided
- Protect the head, face, neck and eyes at all costs
- Schedule outdoor activities when UV levels are minimal, such as in the early morning or late afternoon.
